

Project name: Timed Fate (not final)

-This game will have a platformer style where the main character, Raylan, is on a mission that has his fate at stake. After being knocked out, the photos Raylan had hid to destroy had disappeared! If he doesn't destroy the photos he already altered with, it would be the introduction to his doom and the time zone he lives in as well. Throughout, Raylan may face enemies with the intentions to bring him down, they will try to stop him and even hide the images away. They want Raylan to fall to their mercy, comply with their demands, and take advantage of his powers. Join Raylan on his journey to stop this madness!

*A better glimpse into Raylan's ability:

- He can enter a photo he takes no matter the electronics he uses.
- He can access people's emotions and thoughts within an image.
- He can only access a photo for as long as 6 hours.
- He is restrained by the physical/ mental state of the person he "possesses".
- Anything he alters becomes the new reality, yet it has limits for he can't alter a major node, the consequence would cost him his life.

Quick note:

-The levels in this game may vary between platformer style and storytelling ! (not a final plan)
