

Ten seconds, that has been going through my mind all day. Numbers and time have been flooding my mind recently, It's all I can ever think about. 10 seconds to say goodbye, that was short, to short. Not enough time to get all the things I wanted to say to my brother and thank him for all the things he has done for me. 10 Seconds wasn't enough, all i was able to scream was "Don't Leave Me Brother! Please don't leave me alone in this cruel world!" 2 years ago, when I was in the hospital, I saw my brother with 5 stab wounds. The moment I got in, my mind started to panic and count the number of seconds I had to see my brother, still alive. He deserved to finish college and get a job, not be on this deathbed surrounded by random strangers and his only family he had left, he didn't want to leave me, I saw it in his eyes, he didn't want to leave. Five more seconds was when I started to scream. Four more seconds, his breathing has now stopped. Three more seconds, his eyes started to slowly close, a tear could be seen going down his face. Two more seconds, he gasped out his final words, in a barely audible voice "Goodbye sha-" his words cut off by the the final second, his heart stopped, then came the constant ringing. My brother was gone, I lost the final thing that made me Sane, my brother. Two years later, I found out the group that did this to him and who led them, and the guy who led them was the guy I trusted as much as I trusted my brother. My brother's killers are his best friend and his mates. When I found out, and they're wasn't enough evidence to convict them, I didn't care about my humanity or humans anymore. There are no good people in this world, they're all trash. Trash, trash, trash, trash, trash ,trash, TRASH!!

I'm going to get revenge for you brother, I'll kill them for what they did to you, then I'll save the best for last. Me and your best friend are going to die exactly where you were killed. I'm sorry that I can't go to where you have gone, but I don't care about what you think now, I will gladly sacrifice my sanity to avenge you. I promised his lifeless body on that death bed, I will avenge his death, and I'm going to fulfill that promise I made. Those bastards are gonna get what's coming to them. And I'll make sure they know who put them in their place, me, Shade King.