For my first game I want to try and make a turn based RPG where the player fights zombies, because the entire village has been infected. The player will be able to level up and improve their stats, they can also buy equipment .Houses will be used as blockers. As the waves go by there will be more zombies.