

For my game I am thinking about making a platformer game with stick figures. In this game it will have different levels with characters I made in piskel. For the theme it's going to be kinda pirate based. The stick figure's name is Tom and he will be exploring to find a lost note. But he has challenges to face at sea.

